

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY PRESS ANNOUNCES A NEW SERIES IN CHILDHOOD STUDIES

Series Editor

Myra Bluebond-Langner, Distinguished Professor of Anthropology at Rutgers University.

Advisory Board*

- ❖ Joan Jacobs Brumberg, Stephen H. Weis Presidential Fellow and Professor of Human Development, Cornell University
- ❖ Perri Klass, Assistant Professor of Pediatrics at Boston University School of Medicine and Medical Director of Reach Out and Read National Center
- ❖ Jill Korbin, Professor of Anthropology and Co-director of the Schubert Center for Child Development, Case Western Reserve University
- ❖ Enid Schildkraut, Head of the Department of Anthropology and Curator for Africa at the American Museum of Natural History

Scope of Series

The purpose of this series is to increase understanding of children and childhood experiences in the United States and abroad. The series will reflect the current view of children and approaches to the study of childhood. Authors will come from a variety of fields including: anthropology, criminal justice, history, literature, psychology, religion, and sociology. Books will be addressed not only to a scholarly audience, but also to those directly responsible for ministering to children's needs and formulating policies affecting their lives and futures.
